

PATSY A. ARGO

1937-2011

ROANOKE: Patsy A. Argo, 73, of Roanoke died at her home March 21, 2011.

She was born September 12, 1937, in Dallas to Noble and Opal (Payne) Howard.

Patsy was a homemaker who loved life and had a great many interests, ranging from fishing, playing bingo and gambling at the casino. In her younger years she loved to dance and went as often as the opportunity presented itself. She was also a collector. She had a large collection of porcelain dolls, as well as being a coin collector. One of her favorite hobbies, however, was watching John Wayne movies. She was a huge fan of his, and had seen just about every movie, her favorite being, "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon." This was the last movie she and her daughter, Deborah watched together.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her brother Charles Howard, son James Mays, and granddaughter Cristan Argo.

Mrs. Argo leaves behind a loving family including her husband of 38 years, Robert Argo, of Roanoke; four daughters, Deborah Pearson and husband Carl of Sunset, Texas, Marsha Argo and husband Roger of Gadsden, Alabama, Sandra Farrell and husband Raymond of Sunset, and Donna Mumma and husband George, also of Sunset; one son, Kenneth Mays of Roanoke; two sisters, Judith Bell and husband Bob of Plano, Texas, and Charolett Howard of Frankston, Texas; one brother, Don Howard and wife Deborah of Palestine, Texas; 18 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were Friday, March 25, 2011, on Hwy 101 in Chico at New Hope Fellowship Church, with Duane Tracy officiating.
